ColorVu - Live Guard

DO YOU HAVE CCTV CAMERAS THAT CAN ALSO SCARE OFF INTRUDERS?

Most CCTV cameras record the event after it has occurred, but Hikvision's CCTV cameras with Live Guard function not only record the event in high resolution colour, they actively attempt to scare off the intruder, possibly saving you from experiencing theft, vandalism or a violent incident.

How do they do this?

Each camera comes with a speaker and a bright white LED. When someone enters a specific area, like near your car in the driveway, the LED flashes, and the speaker loudly announces the detection, often scaring off intruders. These cameras use AI to tell the difference between humans, vehicles, and other objects, reducing false alarms. They typically ignore pets, insects, and other non-threatening things.

If I am away from home, how do I know the camera has activated?

You'll get an instant alarm on your smartphone app with a still image of the event. Click "playback" to watch it live and decide your next steps. You can also talk through the camera's speaker by pressing the audio button. Plus, it has a built-in microphone for two-way communication, so you can hear what's happening as well.

I have a camera system; can the Live Guard cameras be added or replace existing cameras?

In many cases, yes, you can. The camera's "Smart AI" is built right in.

ColorVu 3.0: MAKING PRO, MORE PRO

Hikvision's ColorVu 3.0 raises the bar in video security with exceptional clarity and image quality, day and night, thanks to its innovative HikAI-ISP technology. This powerful tech enhances image processing, bringing out fine details and increasing brightness in low-light conditions through advanced AI-driven noise reduction and dynamic motion trail reduction for crystal-clear capture.

ColorVu - Live Guard

Smart Lighting mode allows the camera to automatically shift to full colour when detecting people or vehicles, activating supplemental lighting and the Live Guard strobe and siren for effective deterrence. With HikAI-ISP technology, ColorVu 3.0 makes pro video security even more professional, delivering unmatched clarity and intelligent protection.
