

August 28, 2017

Hikvision Upgrades iVMS-4200 Security Structure

Dear Valued Partner:

As part of our ongoing efforts to provide the most secure and reliable products, we're pleased to announce that Hikvision has upgraded the security structure of the Hikvision iVMS-4200. As such, the newly released version v2.6.2.7 of the iVMS-4200 will not include a password reset strategy.

The new iVMS-4200 is available today, please download here.

Hikvision is committed to the utmost quality and safety of its products. Hikvision Tech Support and your local Hikvision representative are always available to answer any questions you may have. We also encourage our partners to take advantage of the many cybersecurity resources Hikvision offers, including the Hikvision Security Center, which has detailed information about the Hikvision Network and Information Security Lab, third-party and internal testing, a hardening guide and videos.

Team Hikvision North America